WELCOME TO TWIN CREEKS GOLF & COUNTRY CLUB

Twin Creeks Golf & Country Club is one of Sydney's most prestigious golf clubs and home to a superb course designed by Graham Marsh.

Located in Western Sydney, just 20 minutes from Penrith and 45 minutes from the CBD, the club is easily reached from the M4, M5 and M7 motorways.

The club is home to a par-72 championship course which is a must-play destination for the passionate golfer. The Graham Marsh design is set amongst 800 spectacular acres of rural landscape against a stunning woodland backdrop and offers a challenging yet rewarding experience to golfers of all skill levels.

The on-site Golf Shop can take care of all your needs and stocks a wide range of the latest equipment. A dedicated team of PGA-qualified Professionals is on hand to provide high-quality instruction to players of all levels. Expert coaching is complemented by an excellent range of practice facilities, including a full turf driving range, allowing golfers to realise their full potential.

To complete the on course experience, all motorised carts include a fully integrated in-cart navigation and information system. The touch screen technology offers hole-by-hole descriptions and many other functions designed to add to your golfing experience.

At the end of your game, head off course to relax and enjoy the contemporary surrounds of the award-winning clubhouse offering uninterrupted views of the 18th green.

The excellent facilities make Twin Creeks the perfect choice to host functions of all kinds, from birthday celebrations and retirement parties to wedding ceremonies and receptions and corporate conferences.

The club also welcomes corporate golf groups, with friendly staff committed to creating a golf day to remember both on and off the course.

Twin Creeks is dedicated to the enjoyment of an active outdoor lifestyle, with exclusive neighbourhood facilities for residents, their guests and club members including two floodlit synthetic grass tennis courts, a resort style swimming pool with spa and BBQ facilities.

Whatever the reason for your visit, the team at Twin Creeks Golf & Country Club look forward to welcoming you.

THE COURSE

Twin Creeks Golf & Country Club has a highly-rated 18-hole championship course that proves a true test for experienced players without being too daunting for the beginner or social golfer.

Situated in the beautiful surrounds of the Nepean Valley and located just 45 minutes west of Sydney's CBD, the par-72 championship golf course is set amongst 800 acres of bush land.

The course was designed by renowned golf course architect and Australian golfing legend Graham Marsh, who has among his portfolio other well-known and highly acclaimed Australian courses such as Terrey Hills, The Vines, Horizons, Robina Woods and Paradise Palms.

Marsh's designs are renowned for their visual appeal, their large, sprawling bunker complexes and sharply contoured green sites.

The carefully sited sand traps need to be respected, while the water hazards, while adding beauty to the course, are a challenge that can be "taken on" or avoided in true risk and reward fashion.

Each hole rewards safe play when approaching greens but also tempts the adventurous to squeeze a few more yards to avoid the carefully placed bunkers and save a shot. It's golf at its thrilling best.

The course measures 6,444 metres from the Black Championship tees. Other teeing options (Gold, measuring 6,147 metres and Silver measuring 5,808 metres) offer a fair challenge to players of diverse abilities in club competitions and social play. Women play a course measuring 5,363 metres from the Jade tees.

Golf Digest judges said: "I always look forward to the back nine run that combines scoreable short holes with some stout tests in a beautiful woodland setting."

Another added: "Under new owners, and since becoming home to the NSW Open, Twin Creeks has recaptured the polish it had when it first opened for play in the mid-2000s."

The Pros, too, have been equally impressed with what Twin Creeks has to offer.

"These are probably the best greens I have putted on in the past five years," said American tour player Kramer Hickok when he played in the 2017 New South Wales Open held at the club.

"These greens are so good; they are so pure. It's one of those deals where if you have an eight-footer and you miss it, it's on you."

The winner, Jason Scrivener, was equally glowing in his praise. "These are the best greens I've played on all year," he said: "We don't get the chance to putt on greens this good in Europe. It's an absolute treat."

There are many great holes. The 14th, for instance, is a testing uphill par-3 across a gully to a green situated on a ridge.

And the last – the par-4 18th – what a great way to finish the round! Both the tee shot and the approach risk getting wet if not perfectly executed and with so many scores in play it means no lead is safe in tournament play.

The Australia Classic women's golf tournament held at Twin Creeks in 2015 is a case in point. Australian Rebecca Artis came down the last with a one-shot advantage, but her lead evaporated after an errant tee shot and China's Yanhong Pan prevailed thanks to a magnificent birdie.

The intention in the future is to extend several of the tee boxes, giving the course the option to play in excess of 7,000 metres at its longest under tournament conditions. It will give the professional players something extra to think about, but won't affect the everyday player, who should find the golfing challenge laid out before them as thrilling as ever.

Drooling over the prospect of playing Twin Creeks? To whet your appetite still further, a detailed hole-by-hole guide complete with spectacular video flyovers can be found on the club website, twincreeksgolf.com.au and also on the Twin Creeks app, available to download via Google Play and the App Store.

ABOUT THE CLUB

The vision of two Australian property developers to create a prestigious residential estate and championship golf course became reality in 2003 when construction began on what is known today as Twin Creeks Golf & Country Club.

An expansive 800 acres golf and residential estate, comprising over 200 architecturally designed homes, overlooking the golf course and natural woodland forest, is recognised as one of a small number of luxury golf estates in Western Sydney.

Twin Creeks first opened in February 2006 with its name being derived from the two major creeks, Cosgrove Creek and South Creek, that meander through the property, joining north of the estate and continuing to the Hawkesbury River.

Right from the off, the layout at Twin Creeks won many plaudits and the feeling was that it deserved a bigger stage. So it was, that less than a decade after it burst on to the Australian golf scene, the club staged the inaugural Australia Classic featuring some of the top golfers on the Australian Ladies and China Ladies PGA Tours.

Spectators saw some spectacular golf over the course of the tournament and an incredible finish, with China's Yanhong Pan overturning a one-shot deficit going down the last to snatch victory from Australian Rebecca Artis with a winning three-round total of 14-under-par.

The talented golfers on show shone over those three days, but arguably the most outstanding performer of all was the course. A star was born. The event – and Twin Creeks as a venue – both proved to be a huge success and paved the way for the club to host the NSW Open for three years between 2017 and 2019.

Jason Scrivener proved untouchable in the 2017 NSW Open, shooting four rounds in the 60s to post a 24-under-par total that was good enough for a six-shot triumph.

It was much closer a year later, Jake McLeod holding off a charging field to win by two shots on 20-under-par, helped by a new course record 62 in round three.

Incredibly, that mark was lowered again a year later, Andrew Dodt shooting a bogey-free 61 in a second round that featured nine birdies and an eagle.

Dodt, though, could only finish fifth. In a thrilling finale, Josh Younger from Victoria claimed his maiden career title and the $72,000 winner's cheque following a two-hole playoff against New South Welshman Travis Smyth.

Twin Creeks has come a very long way indeed in a very short time. But its transformation and evolution is set to take an even more spectacular turn in the coming years. Read more about the club's vision for an exciting future on the coming pages.

THE CLUB'S VISION FOR THE FUTURE

While Twin Creeks Golf & Country Club is arguably already up there as one of the best golfing and entertainment centres in Western Sydney, hugely ambitious plans are afoot that will take the club into a whole new stratosphere. In fact, over the next decade the region itself is going to be unrecognisable from the sleepy suburb you find today.

Two major planning decisions will provide the catalyst for this stunning metamorphosis:

The first is the government's decision to build Sydney's second major international airport – Western Sydney International (Nancy Bird Walton) Airport – at Badgerys Creek, just five kilometres from the club.

The scheme will attract investment, create jobs and boost tourism in the region for decades to come, with the airport development expected to create 35,000 jobs by 2035, increasing to 60,000 jobs over time.

Add to this growth the Sydney Science Park (SSP), a $5bn mixed-use smart city that will create an internationally recognised epicentre for research, development, education, commercialisation and innovation in the heart of Western Sydney.

Set across 280 hectares adjacent to Twin Creeks Golf & Country Club, Sydney Science Park will be a fully integrated community that will create more than 12,000 knowledge-based jobs, cater to some 10,000 students and be home to more than 10,000 residents.

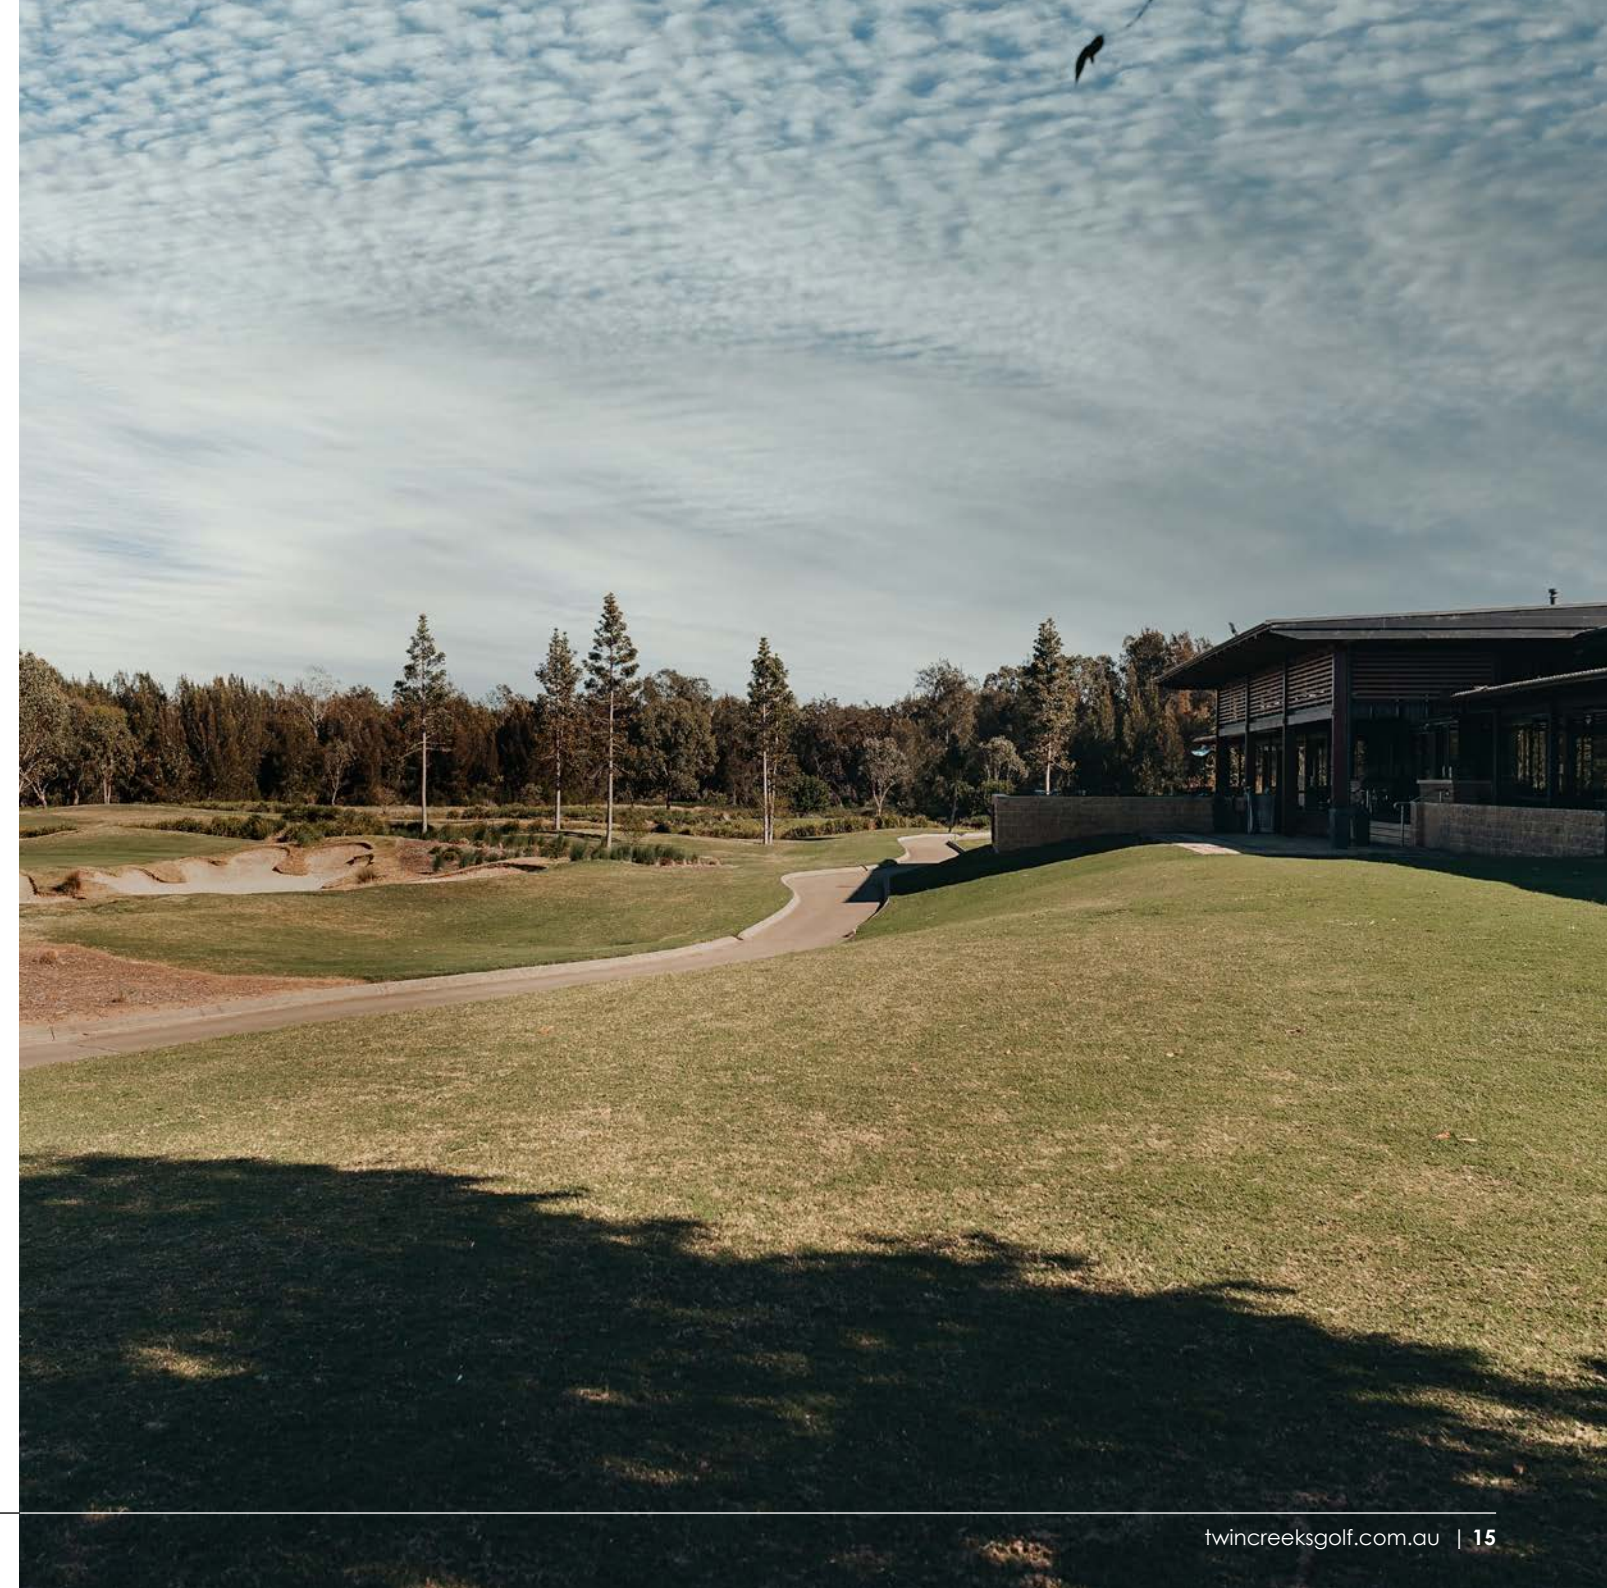

If you're standing still you're falling behind, so the saying goes. Well, rest assured Twin Creeks is not standing still. In the words of the classic Bachman Turner Overdrive song from the 70s – You Ain't Seen Nothing Yet!

Recognising the transformational nature of these projects and a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity, a syndicate of golf-loving businessmen from across Asia bought Twin Creeks in 2015 and unveiled extensive plans to transform the golf club into something truly special.

The development will happen in phases but, when complete, we guarantee it will knock your socks off! Quite simply, there won't be anything else like Twin Creeks in Sydney.

The overall master plan is for three phased projects. Project one is a 275-room luxury resort hotel across 11 storeys.

The centrepiece will be a lagoon pool with a beach like the one at the famous Wet 'n' Wild water park. Visitors will be able to swim under a floating bar and eat in an outdoor dining area which straddles the pool.

The clubhouse will be renovated and expanded to include a second level to include a sports bar and function space for 400 guests that will take in views of the lagoon pool, ceremonial lawn and golf course.

Other features will include a day spa with outdoor plunge pools, three private karaoke rooms, a 100.8sqm convenience store, a resort boutique, a gymnasium, two lounge areas, and multiple function spaces.

The existing car park will be replaced with two levels of underground parking for 500 vehicles, and the clubhouse will have a level added.

Phase two of the project will be a winery/villa complex and phase three an elite sports and golf academy.

The longer-term vision for Twin Creeks is to be recognised as the number one 5-star accommodation and leisure option for Western Sydney and to set the benchmark for future development within the region. It will be a Mecca for golfers. It will be a Mecca for fun lovers. It will be a Mecca for anyone who appreciates the good things in life.

Over the next 20 years, the Greater Western Sydney population is expected to grow from two million to three million people. Twin Creeks wants to share in this success and in return give the region a world-class facility to frequent, enjoy and be proud of. We hope you are as excited about this vision as we are.

Twin Creeks Golf & Country Club is the Sydney golf club that offers corporate golfers far more than just a great day's golfing. Whether your corporate golf event is a charity fundraiser, a corporate brand builder or just a great day out for you and a chance to reward your hard-working employees, why settle for second best when you can enjoy the ultimate corporate golfing experience!

Corporate golf days have long been established as a great way of fostering corporate relationships both on and off the course and finding the right venue is paramount to this success.

Anyone who knows their golf knows Twin Creeks and guests will simply jump at the chance should you invite them to play one of Australia's finest courses, one that has been ranked among the top 100 in the country by several leading golf publications over many years.

It takes an exceptional team behind the scenes to ensure each and every event is seamlessly organised and successfully executed. Corporate groups are assigned a group coordinator who will organise all aspects of their day. The coordinator can assist with a personalised bag drop service, pre-golf registrations, player briefings, banner service, provision of an on-course drinks cart, collection of score cards, scoring, post golf presentation and catering requirements.

The club receives excellent feedback from its corporate clients, not just for the quality of the facilities on offer, but about the whole corporate day experience and how easy it is for them logistically.

Twin Creeks can cater for small groups of 16 through to a full field of 144 golfers, providing an enjoyable experience to golfers of all skill levels.

To ensure corporate guests make the most of their golfing opportunity at an Australian premium golf course, they have complimentary access to the club's outstanding practice facilities which include a 270-metre full turf driving range and a vast practice putting green.

A bit of friendly competition such as Nearest the Pin or Longest Drive always goes down well. Or how about enlisting the services of one of our Pros to put on a golf clinic before play begins, or challenge your guests to a Beat the Pro competition on one of Twin Creeks' memorable par threes?

When the golf is done, kick back and relax in the contemporary clubhouse. An open plan function room catering for up to 150 guests with full functioning bar is available.

Conveniently located inside St Clair Shopping Centre, we provide check-ups and cleans to root canals, cosmetic dentistry and implants — our Australian-trained dentists use only the finest equipment and materials for your family's smile.
